

Gamma's RXPro Software Goes Live in Curacao

In 2016, local software developer Gamma IT Solutions developed RXPro, a complete POS system for the distribution of prescription and non-prescription medicines, adapted specifically for the Aruban and Curacaoan markets. To date, most pharmacies in Aruba are using this pharmacy software program, bringing a higher level of service to clients. Gamma is proud to announce that this week, RXPro went live at Botika Mahuma in Curacao, marking the software's entry into Curacao's pharmacy market.

Gamma's project manager Koos Veel shares, "The Gamma team is thrilled to have brought our signature RXPro software to Curacao. Not only has the software gone live at Botika Mahuma, but several other pharmacies in Curacao are already locked in to come onboard with the software."

RXPro features several modules that directly benefit clients. The program contains the complete histories of all patients and an index of all the medications registered with AZV, updated monthly. A medication control application manages the distribution of medication based on six criteria, ensuring the safety of all patients.

A number of modules guarantee greater efficiency for pharmacies, such as the inventory control module, which eliminates time-consuming manual inventory checks when ordering products. A built-in "Suggested Purchase Order" module, based on a custom formula that optimizes inventory, offers pharmacists a convenient way to make regular purchase orders. Another module handles the logistics of magistral preparations, including automatic cost calculation and automatic deductions from inventory. A billing module automatically handles monthly declarations to AZV. Other features include barcode-based scanning and searching, role-based access control, continuous synchronization of data for pharmacy groups, and report and audit trail generation.

Veel adds, "In time, we hope to add all of the pharmacies in Curacao to our client base so they and their clients can start enjoying the benefits of this robust software as well."
